Safe Harbor Statement

This press release contains certain statements that may be deemed "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. All statements that address activities, events or developments that the Company intends, expects, plans, projects, believes or anticipates will or may occur in the future are forward-looking statements. Examples of forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements the Company makes regarding general economic conditions, spending by municipalities, the outlook for the residential and non-residential construction markets, improvements related to capacity utilization, the recovery, if any, of our end markets, and the potential effect of the refinancing on the Company's operations, and the impact of these factors on our businesses. Forward-looking statements are based on certain assumptions and assessments made by the Company in light of its experience and perception of historical trends, current conditions and expected future developments. Actual results and the timing of events may differ materially from those contemplated by the forward-looking statements due to a number of factors, including regional, national or global political, economic, business, competitive, market and regulatory conditions and the following:

- the demand level of manufacturing and construction activity;

- the Company's ability to service its debt obligations; and
- the other factors that are described in the section entitled "RISK FACTORS" in Item 1A of our most recently filed Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Undue reliance should not be placed on any forward-looking statements. The Company does not have any intention or obligation to update forward-looking statements, except as required by law.
